Madison on Impeachment

[Correspondence of the Philadelphia Press.]

The slightest examination shows that if any man should hesitate, or should treat with deference the proposition to arraign a faithless Executive it is the leaders who claim to be the especial guardians and defenders of the Constitution of the United States. And if Andrew Johnson himself in his new rule of exclusive champion and interpreter of the fundamental law is only half honest he will bow before the decree of the accepted authorities—the fathers of the Constitution—and admonish his supporters of the trap into which they have fallen. To explain what I mean I direct attention to the third volume of Elliott's debates on the Federal Constitution, in the Virginia Convention of 1788. James Madison, the leading writer of The Federalist, was a member of the Virginia Convention, called for the purpose of considering the National Constitution of which he was a chief framer and advocate. During the convention which prepared the National Constitution, he kept full private notes, afterwards published by order of Congress, and ever since regarded as an infallible authority. When the Constitution was submitted to the respective States for ratification, the arguments of Madison carried conviction to doubting minds, converting even Jefferson by their clearness and cogency. The Virginia Convention assembled in June, 1788, with Mr. Madison as the acknowledged chief of the party favorable to the ratification, assisted by Marshall, Pendleton, Edmund, Randolph and others, and opposed by Monroe, Grayson, Henry and Mason. This array of intellectual giants subjected the Constitution to a terribly searching analysis, and their words, carefully taken down at the time, are now preserved among the archives of the nation—controlling statesmen and constitutional lawyers as completely as the profoundest opinions of the great judicial minds. It was after this memorable intellectual struggle that the Constitution was ratified by a vote of 89 to 79. When the second section of the second article was under consideration a very interesting and thorough debate took place. That section is as follows:

SECTION 2. "The President shall be commander-in-chief of the army and navy of the United States, and of the militia of the several States when called into actual service of the United States; he may require the opinion in writing of the principal officer in each of the executive departments upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices, and he shall have power to grant reprieves and pardons for offences against the United States, except in cases of impeachment."

The opponents of the Constitution, alarmed at the extraordinary powers conferred by this section upon the Executive, threw their whole force against it. George Mason was particularly apprehensive lest a corrupt and faithless Executive might abuse the prerogatives here so generously bestowed. He contended that the President "ought not to have the power of pardoning, because he may frequently pardon crimes which were advised by himself." "It may happen at some future day," said Mr. Mason, "that he will establish a monarchy and destroy the Republic. If he has the power of granting pardons before indictment and conviction, may he not stop inquiry and prevent detection?" Now, mark the language in reply to these weighty objections, spoken by the Father of the Constitution, James Madison, of Virginia:

Mr. Madison, adverting to Mr. Mason's objection to the President's power of pardoning, said it would be extremely improper to vest it in the House of Representatives, and not much less so to place it in the Senate, because numerous bodies were actuated more or less by passion, and might, in the moment of vengeance, forget humanity. It was an established practice in Massachusetts for the Legislature to determine such cases. It was found, says he, that two different sessions, before each of which the question came with respect to pardoning the delinquents of the rebellion, were governed precisely by different sentiments, the one would execute with universal vengeance, and the other would extend general mercy.

There is one security in this case to which gentlemen may not have adverted: if the President be connected, in any suspicious manner, with any person, and there be any grounds to charge him, he will shelter him; the House of Representatives can impeach him; THEY CAN REMOVE HIM IF FOUND GUILTY; THEY CAN SUSPEND HIM WHEN SUSPECTED, AND THE POWER WILL DEVOLVE ON THE VICE PRESIDENT. SHOULD HE BE SUSPECTED ALSO, HE MAY LIKEWISE BE SUSPENDED UNTIL HE BE IMPEACHED AND REMOVED, AND THE LEGISLATURE MAY MAKE A TEMPORARY APPOINTMENT. THIS IS A GREAT SECURITY.

Is it any wonder that these words from the illustrious Madison conquered the objections of the Southern men—the same by whom the leaders of the late rebellion justified themselves when they protested that the Constitution had become the instrument of Executive power, and was being wielded for the purpose of consolidating the Union? The reader will observe that Mr. Madison's assurances, which quoted the grave fears of George Mason, were called forth by the prediction that he might abuse the pardoning power. It was for this possible offence that he proposed he should be impeached by the House and removed by the Senate. Imagine, for a moment, what that unchallenged patriot would have said had his antagonists predicted such a series of crimes and misdemeanors as have been perpetrated by Andrew Johnson? The abuse of the pardoning power is Andrew Johnson's smallest offense. What would James Madison have said if Mason or Henry had reminded him that in the future an Executive might be found who would not simply prostitute the pardoning power and the public patronage for the purpose of sustaining his personal "policy," but would denounce the Congress of the United States as "a body hanging on the verge of the Government," and would attempt to force into the control of the Government the very men who had just been defeated after an unparalleled conspiracy to overthrow it? Mr. Madison says "the President can be impeached if he is connected in any suspicious manner with any person, and there be grounds to believe he will shelter him." The lavish distribution of pardons to counterfeiters and rebels is a circumstance full of suspicion and alarm. But the chief value of these weighty words is where Mr. Madison tells us that the offending President can be suspended "when suspected, and the power will devolve on the Vice President." And mark that "should he (the Vice President) be suspected also, he may like wise be suspended till he be impeached, and the Legislature may make a temporary appointment." Would that Mr. Madison add, THIS IS A GREAT SECURITY." In fact, it supplies at once the argument and the remedy. It fills the vacuum between the period of impeachment and conviction or acquittal, compelling the Congress of the United States, should matter for trial be found by the House, to provide for an Executive, to make a temporary appointment, who shall discharge the duties of the Presidential office in the interval. Thus it will be seen that the President can be impeached and removed if found guilty suspended when suspected, and the power devolved on the Vice President. And as if the illustrious Virginian was looking into the future and guarding against what seemed to be an almost impossible treason—providing also that the Vice President may be suspended until he should be impeached and removed, and that the Legislature may make a temporary appointment. Nothing has been left to inference, construction or doubt, and no further words could add to the clear and simple statement without insulting the dullest comprehension.

ORIGIN OF ALMANACS.—Vestegan, alluding to our ancient Saxon ancestors, says: "They used to engrave upon certain squared stocks, about a foot in length the courses of the moones of the wh le yeare wherby they could always certainly tell when the new moones, full moones and changes should happen, as also their festival dales, and such a carued stock they called an almanight, that is to say, 'al mon heed' to wit the regard or observation of all the moones, and hence is derived the name of almanac." After the invention of printing almanacs became general in use. The first recorded account in this country of an almanac is the Year Book of Henry the Seventh.

During a trial in Bangor Maine, the Courier says, one of the witnesses was asked of whom he learned the business of silver plating? He answered, "Mr Johnson." A rascally black Republican, outside the bar, queried "Was it Andy?" "No, sir," said the witness, "he is in the copper trade." The Court smiled audibly.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO MARCH 22.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—In the Senate, the joint resolution exempting wrapping paper made from wood or corn straw from Internal Revenue, was passed.

Anthony, of Rhode Island, introduced a resolution instructing the Committee on Public Printing to inquire if there are any deficiencies in the accounts of the late Superintendent of Public Printing, whether he made contracts that were prejudicial to the interests of the Government and whether he bought more paper than he should. Anthony explained that the object of the resolution was to remove certain impressions created by articles in the newspapers.

Chandler, of Michigan, from the Committee on Commerce reported a resolution authorizing American citizens to dispose of vessels to friendly belligerent governments under certain circumstances. Laid over.

Trumbull of Illinois introduced a bill to amend the Bankrupt Act so as to repeal the provision requiring the Chief Justice to appoint Registers in Bankruptcy and providing that the Registers be appointed by the District Court.

On motion of Sherman, of Ohio, the resolution exempting wrapping paper from the Internal Revenue tax was rescinded.

On motion of Sherman a tax of 10 per cent. was imposed upon all State, municipal or corporation notes, and scrip issued by any national banks and thus amended the resolution passed. A letter from the Secretary of the Treasury had been previously read showing that the national banks at New Orleans were issuing scrip as currency.

The bill to sell the Sioux land in trust for the Chickasaw and Choctaw Indians was passed.

Morgan, of New York, reported favorably on remitting the tax on agricultural machinery. The subject was postponed.

A Joint Resolution was passed suspending payments to any slaveowners for slaves enlisted in the Union army.

The Senate refused to take up the resolution increasing the pay of employees of the Quartermaster and Subsistence Departments. The Senate went into executive session and then adjourned.

In the House, Schenck, of Ohio, introduced a Joint Resolution extending to the employees of the Quartermaster and Subsistence Departments in Washington the provisions of the Joint Resolution giving 20 per cent. additional compensation. The persons named include the mechanics, laborers, watchmen and other employees in the Departments.

Wilson of Iowa from the Judiary Committee, reported Senate bill to provide for District and Circuit Courts for Nebraska; passed.

Hulburd of New York, from the Committee on Public Expenditures, stated that the committee had taken testimony which apparently inculpated one or more members of the Senate, and the committee deemed it proper to report to the House in order that such action might be taken as comported with the courtesy due from one House to the other. He offered a resolution that the testimony be transmitted to the Senate.

Tabor, of New York, stated as one of the minority of the committee, that he did not agree to the report. He considered the evidence entirely insufficient to base such a resolution on, and asked that it be read to the House.

Hulburd stated that if the House required the reading of the testimony it would probably occupy six days. After debate the resolution passed.

Hulburd reported the following resolution:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this House that Henry A. Smythe should be immediately removed from the office of Collector of the Port of New York, and that the Clerk of the House cause a certified copy of this resolution to be laid before the President.

Butler, of Massachusetts, opposed the resolution. He said there was but one way by which the House should demand the removal of a high officer—that was by impeachment.

Randall, of Kentucky, said the resolution was unusual and uncalled for.

Butler asked what should be done if the President refused to remove Smythe.

Randall replied that if the President did what was right he would tell the House to mind its own business. (Laughter.) The resolution went over.

Washington News.

NEW YORK, March 21.—The Herald's Washington special says Col. Butler, late of the army and nephew of Ben Butler is seeking an appointments as Consul to Panama. His chances for nomination are doubtful.

The Times' special says Rosecrans sent in his resignation two weeks since. Gen. Grant endorsed the recommendation for acceptance before action on the resignation. A letter is received from Bishop Rosecrans, the General's brother, saying a misapprehension of action.

The New York Commissioners recommend the appointment of Sickles as Brigadier General in the regular army if Rosecrans' resignation is accepted.

It is believed that Congress will adjourn on Monday or Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—A spicy debate took place in the House yesterday evening over the bill to appropriate one million dollars for the relief of the destitute in the South. Bingham attacked Butler's war record, calling him the hero of Fort Fisher. Butler replied in a witty speech which drew great applause. On the Democratic side of the House the debate was very acrimonious. Several amendments were rejected. The Committee reported the bill back to the House. No action was taken. The resolution will probably be passed.

The Committee on Public Expenditures have just reported resolutions calling on the President to remove Collector Smythe.

The Tribune says the President is actively believed trying to prevent the election of Hawley in Connecticut. Dixon is with him daily.

The Democrats are giving the names of Radical postmasters asking their removal. The President is in constant communication with English. A caucus has just been completed. The Republican State Committee say there will be substantial gains in most of the towns, and unimportant decrease in any part of the State. Hawley's majority is estimated at 10,000. People in the other States are deeply interested in the Connecticut elections.

The ruffians are mainly Irishmen, known as the "Molly Maguires," banded together in a secret organization, for the purpose of controlling the mines. They resort to murder and robbery. It is impossible to punish them, for when arrested the juries are packed with their accomplices. On Friday last Mr. Littlejohn, a mine Superintendent, was murdered in the hope of securing his money. SATURDAY MORNING MARCH 23 1867

The Difference

A Copperhead paper pronounces it the "veriest hypocrisy to talk of sympathy with Ireland and to support the Radical policy towards the South at the same time. Probably it will be forever impossible for such a writer to see the difference between the condition of the Southern people before their rebellion, and the condition of the Irish at the present time to understand the difference between an utterly causeless rebellion and a rebellion against a tyranny that is a disgrace to civilization But the Radicals so-called have discrimination enough to perceive this difference They abhor the late rebellion against our Government because it was utterly without excuse or justification, and sympathize with Ireland because she has every reason for her action every justification for her resistance to oppression The causes that justify resistance to established government are set forth in our Declaration of Independence Judged by that instrument the South had no cause whatever for rebellion, None of her rights had been assailed No privilege her people had ever enjoyed had been torn from them As citizens of the United States they were on full equality in every particular with the people of the North The same laws existed for all Equal rights were secured by the General Government in all parts of the Union Under a state of facts like this, a rebellion, involving such an enormous waste of life and property, was nothing less than a stupendous crime Its defenders cannot point out a shadow of cause for its justification

But how different was it with our Revolution of 1776, and how different is it with Ireland at the present time! Wrongs infinitely less atrocious than those the Irish have long been compelled to endure, would not only justify, but imperatively call for resistance to the authority responsible for their existence While other nations are making progress towards freedom, while the rights of the people in all other civilized countries are obtaining wider recognition, while rulers elsewhere are making concessions to the masses and even laboring zealously for their elevation, England holds Ireland in a condition of vassalage hardly better than that of two centuries ago. It is for this reason that Americans who have always been faithful to freedom, who have always detested slavery in every form and who only tolerated it at home because they had no remedy, now sympathize with Ireland. And they detest the late rebellion in the South because it was a movement, not in favor of liberty, but in the interest of despotism, because it was begun without excuse and conducted with horrid ferocity; because it was a blow aimed at the great principle of government by the people, and thus calculated to annihilate that system which the national instinct felt was indispensable to the future peace, happiness, and prosperity of the country. The great party of freedom in America sympathizes with Ireland because it sympathizes with the cause of humanity, the world over. It believes there is a nobler destiny for the human race than it has yet achieved, and every effort to enlarge the sphere of human liberty has its sympathy, and, as far as possible, its support. And because it is devoted to these principles, it cannot look upon the late attempt to overthrow them (for the Southern rebellion was nothing less) in any other light than as a piece of wickedness which deserves to be the object of eternal detestation

A Man and a Brother.

It is to be feared that the late dispatches from the South will produce deep despondency in the minds of those who have hitherto, through many difficulties, persevered in their faith that this is exclusively a white man's government In every Southern State high born gentlemen are forgetting their noble blood, and associating in close political confraternity with their late chattels Meetings are being held in South Carolina, in Virginia, in Alabama, wherein the chivalry assemble with the negroes to congratulate them on their enfranchisement, and to hail them as men and as brothers These are the times which try the souls of North ern Democrats The prospect is gloomy indeed for them to make anything more out of the negro question. The entire capital on which the party has been doing business for thirty years is sunk suddenly and gone forever. As the Northern wing deserted the Southern in 1861 when its aid was expected in the cause of secession, so now the Southern wing deserts its Northern allies when the latter are in need of help to oppose negro suffrage Heedless of the frantic appeals of the Northern Democracy, urging them to stand firm against this dishonor, the chivalry heartily acquiesce in what they lately said would be their own degradation, and leave their Northern friends to bear alone the brunt of the battle for a white man's Government. Nor is this the whole sum of the misfortunes of the betrayed party For months there have been defections in its own ranks, and many of its ablest organs have scandalized their cotemporaries by also pronouncing for impartial suffrage There is but one remedy left, and it is reasonably certain that this remedy will not long be disregarded. In a short time the whole party will advocate equal suffrage The advice of the New York World will be followed, and a general effort made to build the negro mind up in the Democratic faith, before it can be debauched by educational influences In the South this plan is now receiving a trial The "superior race" is no longer afraid of the disgrace of such associations. The blacks now have votes, and their ballots have wonderful virtue as a cataplasm for the tender sensibilities of those who were once afraid of negro equality It would be interesting to have an opinion at this time from a member of the "white man's party," as to whether the negro is really a man and a brother.

Appointments for Oregon.

A dispatch from Senator Corbett, dated Washington, March 21st, gives information that Hon A. Hinman of Forest Grove has been appointed Collector of Customs at Astoria, and Richard Williams, Esq., of Salem, United States District Attorney for Oregon

The appointment of Mr Hinman is an excellent one. He is known as a gentleman of perfect integrity and of good business qualifications and will undoubtedly prove an energetic and capable officer.

Mr Williams, the newly appointed U S Attorney, is a lawyer of fair ability, and no doubt will look sharply after the interests of the United States.

Congress has for some time withheld pay from Mr Harvey, Minister of the United States to Portugal, because he wrote a letter home denouncing Congress and virtually recommending that the President should use force against that body Not long ago there was some more sparring in the House on Minister Harvey's case Gen Banks thought the misdemeanor of the Minister so grave as to justify Congress in withholding his salary Mr. Raymond said the blame for publishing Harvey's letter belonged to him Mr Eldridge of Wisconsin, Democrat said that in that case, if some one must be punished by loss of salary, it should be either the gentleman from New York or the Secretary of State Mr Raymond facetiously interrogated—"If the House held me responsible, why did it increase my salary at its last session? Stevens immediately responded amid a roar of laughter, "Oh, that was to pay for your outfit and expenses at the Philadelphia Convention" Thad. never fails to come out ahead

The steamer City of Boston has completed ten voyages between New York and Liverpool the past year, running 7,000 statute miles, a performance never before equaled

THE BRITISH NORTH AMERICAN PROVINCES —The Canadian delegates now in England to confer res ng the proposed confederation were fa vore with a public entertainment a few days ago which fact is made the occasion of remarks by the London Times respecting the relations of the colonies to the Imperial Government In consequence of political changes within the last few years the Canadian dependencies of Great Britain we are told by this organ are no longer regarded as sources of profit strength and influence England sees little of her own colonies except through the veil of the interposing States

Our social link says the Times is rather with the States our political rather with the colonies The colonies therefore are considered a practically independent power After this touch of cold shoulder for the benefit of the delegates, the London oracle proceeds to show that the colonies cost more than they are worth as follows

That connection now costs us the abstraction of 14 000 soldiers from a military force which we are told on all sides is inadequate to the pretensions to be maintained and the work to be done It costs them separation by the breadth of an ocean and the insulation of the greater part of them in the heart of a continent It costs us the perpetual observation of a frontier which stretches from one ocean to another It costs us the large proportion of our navy, which, on any emergency, would have to be detached for this work It costs us the perpetual weakness we suffer in comparison with our neighbors of rivals far or near by the notoriety of this necessary deduction from our disposable power This is what it costs us, and to the colonies themselves it costs even more Though they would have us to bear the brunt, the quarrel, if any would be with us and our connection would be the political weakness through which they could be invaded Any question in which they may happen to have absolutely no concern, may become the occasion of an attack which, if not fatal to their independence, will have to be resisted at fearful odds or bought off by intolerable penalties If any possible conflict with their neighbor they will be the dwarf and England the giant of the fable and no victory whatever will compensate for the actual injuries that the weaker may have to pay for it These are considerations that would hardly have been applicable in the good old days of imperial unity and colonial dependence But they are everything now It is now for the colonies themselves to answer the questions their forefathers might have fairly put us to the designs of the mother country Responsibility goes with power, and the colonies being now powerful, are also responsible What will they do? There is, we trust, no immediate necessity for a definite answer, but the time may come, and it is far nearer than it has been

SHOCKING DISTRESS IN NEWFOUNDLAND —The last mail brings the most deplorable accounts of disease and destitution in the island of Newfoundland In St John's, scarlet fever of a most malignant type is sweeping off families, young and old—the extraordinary mildness of the weather there seemingly aiding the fearful ravages of the disease In other districts, owing to the partial failure of the fishery and the almost entire loss of the potato crop by rot, an amount of destitution prevails scarcely credible, did not we have the testimony of an eye witness A missionary of the Methodist denomination in a letter to a gentleman in Boston, says

"Never did I witness such scenes as I have since I came on this circuit on the southern shores of Trinity Bay Let me give you one instance as an example On New Years' Day I visited a 'tilt,' or cabin, it was a wretched hovel covered with rinds and sods, and one side of the roof was loaded with stones to keep it from blowing away With difficulty I pushed open the door Stretched on the bare earth (for there was no floor) was a man of about 55 years of age, his only covering consisting of a piece of oil cloth jacket and a strip of dirty canvas He appeared to be in a dying condition Sitting by him on a tub was his wife, her only garment being a portion of a bread bag over her shoulders, holding in her arms an almost naked babe Two other children, in an equally wretched state, were cowering over the embers in the fire-place They had not eaten a morsel since the previous day The house consisted of but one room, which was entirely destitute of furniture—no beds or blankets, no chairs or cooking utensils—absolutely nothing but two kettles

"Such a sight I never witnessed, and I thought I had seen as bad as could be, in the course of my labors To add to the misery of this family they were all afflicted with a most loathsome cutaneous disorder Of course I did what I could among the neighbors to relieve this distress; but the children are still naked, the people being actually too poor to help them! Corn meal and molasses are dealt out by the government, but even this is diminishing rapidly, while paupers are as rapidly increasing We know not where to look for help, and how the people are to get through the winter is more than I can imagine

CONSCIENCE MONEY —The Secretary of the Treasury is constantly receiving small sums of money from persons who desire thus to make amends, though the big thieves seem possessed of tougher consciences It is said that quite a proportion of the money thus returned is counterfeit notes and bogus checks, though what gratification is to be found in thus adding insult to injury is not very plain The following is a sample of these conscience letters

BOSTON, Jan 26, 1867.

To the Secretary of the U S Treasury

DEAR SIR —Enclosed please find seven dollars, the value of which I was induced to take in compensation for articles which I was obliged to purchase by that most pernicious, interfering, meddling, fault-finding, advantage-taking, contemptible, and tyrannical officer, ——, of the Signal Corps, he who scarcely gave one in his command a respectable character on his discharge, except those who had been only a day or two under him, and there he shows his smallness and ineffidelogy, for he gave them good characters when he knew nothing of them I have sent an amount of money which I thought would fully cover the value of what I took My conscience smote me a great many times, and now, hoping to obtain pardon, I remain a friend to —— as I hope I am to all, but I shall remember the above named with the memory of an elephant

At a dinner given recently in Paris the principal dishes were shark, horse, dog, and rat.

SAN FRANCISCO ASSAYING AND REFINING WORKS.

No. 416 Montgomery Street,

(Successors to Kellogg, Hewston & Company.)

CAPITAL STOCK, $1,000,000!

Directors:

JOHN PARROTT CHAS F McLANE,
WM C RALSTON, A HALWARD,
LOUIS A GARNETT

LOUIS A GARNETT President and Manager
JOHN HEWSTON, Jr Chemist and Superintendent

THIS COMPANY HAVING GREATLY enlarged their Refining Works, and introduced many other important improvements, are pleased to announce that they feel warranted in again reducing materially their terms of doing business

THE TARIFF OF CHARGES

Which they now submit to the public—considered with reference to the cost of material and labor—is lower than in any other part of the world and secures to the mining interest of this coast an important increase in both the mining and commercial value of bullion

Their charges hereafter will be as follows:

FOR ASSAYING DEPOSITS FOR UNPARTED GOLD BARS.

One eighth of one per cent. (heretofore a quarter) for all amounts over $1,000, and two dollars for any smaller sum Returns made in twenty four hours

FOR ASSAYING DEPOSITS FOR UNPARTED SILVER BARS

Two dollars for the gold contained, up to $1,000, and one-eighth of one per cent for all amounts over that sum, and one per cent on the silver contained Returns made in twenty four hours

FOR REFINING DEPOSITS MADE FOR COIN OR FINE BARS

On bullion under 300 parts gold 2 cents per ounce
On bullion from 300 to 600 parts gold, 4 cents per ounce
On bullion from 600 to 750 parts gold, 6 cents per ounce
On bullion from 750 to 899½ parts gold, 8 cents per ounce
Above 950 the only charge will be for coinage But there will be no charge for refining less than two dollars

FOR COINING GOLD

This charge will be the same as at the Mint—a half of one per cent—and will be paid by us to that institution But there will be no charge for future for making fine gold or silver bars from bullion refined by us

RETURNS IN COIN IN FORTY-EIGHT HOURS

Silver contained in deposits for coin will be accounted for at the same rate coin or ingots will be Gold bars of other Assayers in good standing will be cashed by us at the highest market rates

Dust and bullion can be forwarded to us from any part of the country and returns made through Wells Fargo & Co's Express

CHARGES AT U S BRANCH MINT

For the convenience of those not familiar with the terms of the Mint, we subjoin the tariff of charges now in force at that institution

For refining bullion under 300 parts gold, 2 cents per ounce

For refining bullion from 300 to 600 parts gold, 4 cents per ounce

For refining bullion from 600 to 750 parts gold, 6 cents per ounce

For refining bullion from 750 to 899½ parts gold, 8 cents per ounce

For refining bullion from 899½ to 950 parts gold, 11 cents per ounce

For refining bullion from 830½ to 949½ parts gold 13 cents per ounce

The charge for coinage is half of one per cent, and the charge for making fine silver bars the same

Comparing the above with the deposits for coinage with the proceeds reported, it will be seen that it is the aim to make cost to one per cent only

This will be all at the Mint, which intends to equal the rates which would have been made had they been deposited for coinage

5.00 per to equal Mint return at refining charge of 14 cents

845 per to equal Mint return at refining charge of 14 cents

805 per to equal San Francisco A & R Works return, at refining charge of 8 cents mh1d3m

The Judiciary Committee, to whom was referred the petition of Northrup and Bramhall, for damages to filling on Front street, reported that they thought the city not liable to for such damages, and that nothing should be done by the contractors by way of damages. Adopted

The Committee on River Improvements reported that they had met with the resolution of the Council, a bid had been forwarded to Col. Williamson to do the proposed dredging of Swan Island bar. A letter from Col. Williamson to Mr. McCraken was submitted with the report. The substance of the letter was published some time ago in the Oregonian.) The committee also offered a resolution providing for a loan. The report was accepted, and the ordinance ordered to take its regular course.

REPORTS OF OFFICERS.

The report of J. J. Hoffman, Recorder, for February, was received. Its receipts for fees for that month, $76 50. Money collected by fines, &c., $61 50. Money collected by fines, &c., paid over to the City Treasurer, $116 05. The report was filed.

E. B. The report was accompanied by several bills of expenses. The report was ordered filed and the bills to come up in their regular order.

BILLS AGAINST THE CITY.

The following bills were ordered paid:

An ordinance (introduced heretofore and read twice) to establish a day and night police, came up for third reading, and on motion of Mr. Carson, was laid upon the table.

An ordinance defining the powers and duties of the Police, came up for a third reading and was referred to the Committee on Health and Police.

SURVEY OF SWAN ISLAND BAR.

The following was adopted to authorize George H. Baldwin Strang and Capt. Brown (Pilot on Columbia river) to make a survey of Swan Island bar, and to submit a statement of the cost of dredging the channel of the same 300 feet wide and 16 feet deep.

The Council then adjourned.

THE CALICO SOIREE.—The Turn-Vereins gave their annual pleasant and orderly Soirees on Thursday evening, on which occasion the fairer sex all appeared in calico, which, in our estimation, only added to the loveliness of the wearers. At the supper table we partook drank and Messrs. F. S. Ostheim, D. Froidevaux and J. C. Mecredorffer were called upon and made a few appropriate remarks. The Turn-Verein in this city has been in existence some ten years, and as far as we can ascertain, is in a prosperous condition.

THE NEW HOUSE.—Mr. O. H. Myers, a day or two since, commenced a tin roof for Messrs. McMillan & Hallock, on an addition in the rear of their building on Oak street, which is a piece of workmanship is something superior to anything in that line we have seen lately. The lines are perfectly regular and the plates are so carefully fitted that they lay smoothly upon the sheathing. Mr. M. evidently has excellent facilities for doing that sort of work

FIRE AT SEA.—About five o'clock yesterday afternoon, the roof of John B. White's hotel caught fire from a burning chimney, and was damaged to a small amount before the flames could be extinguished. An alarm was rung and the various fire companies turned out with their accustomed celerity, but before they arrived the kindness of neighbors about the time they reached the scene of action, the boys had no chance to get on the "brooks."

THE SWAN.—The schooner Growler left this city yesterday morning for Puget Sound. The captain of the Rangerette got aground, when he came up in the afternoon, at Swan Island bar. She was, however, far out of the channel. She was loaded with fifty tons of flour, a small lot of leather, and general merchandize, and two or three wagons.

RUNNING A CHINAMAN.—Three draymen who got on a bit of a drunk on crossing or two since, were before the Recorder on yesterday morning on a charge of disorderly conduct. After hearing the evidence the Recorder discharged them all but a Chinaman, who was up on a charge of larceny, stealing a shirt from Mr. Meir. He was discharged

PAY YOUR TAXES.—Mr. Ferry desires us to say that the city taxes are now due and that when the time for payment expires, he will promptly turn over all delinquent names to the Marshal for collection. Costs will, therefore, be saved by paying up without delay

THE TOM WOOD.—The schooner Ellen is now taking in cargo for Tillamook, and is expected to sail in two or three days. Her freight will consist mostly of flour, though she will take some assorted merchandize.

WATER.—A workman has been for several days employed in laying the terraced-bank in front of the Court House. The sod used is of white clover, and the bank when completed will be very pretty and symmetrical

FROM THE SILETZ.—A private letter from the Siletz Indian Agency, March 17th, says: "The weather is fine ... no snow in this valley and there has not been ... for ..."

VANCOUVER FIRE DEPARTMENT.—The Common Council of the town of Vancouver has before it an ordinance providing for the organization of a Fire Department similar in its general features to that of Portland It has been read twice and at the next meeting will be put upon its passage. There is understood to be no doubt of its success. The progress which Vancouver is making in the direction of ample protection against fire, is matter for congratulation among all property holders. A few months ago, the town had neither engine or firemen and was entirely powerless against the destroying element Now it has two fire companies which belong exclusively to the town and two belonging to the garrison and Ordnance Department, which can be used in any part of the town almost as easily as if part of its own companies. Three engines and one Hook and Ladder apparatus, all well manned, constitute a force which is better for the purposes of protection, than fire insurance The ample manner in which the town is now provided in this respect, is due to the very liberal policy adopted by its leading property-holders, who have contributed thus far out of their own private funds to purchase the apparatus and to pay the companies upon a footing of efficiency The Hook and Ladder apparatus was purchased of this city at an extremely low figure. In conversation with Brunson of Vancouver, we find a very general disposition to attribute much of their present good fortune to the sympathy and aid they have received from the Department and citizens of Portland.

TRADE OF THE SANDWICH ISLANDS.—The communication we published yesterday in reference to the trade of the Sandwich Islands with the Pacific States, has suggested the idea of presenting a statement of the commerce of the islands, as drawn from the statistics of the Custom House at Honolulu The Hawaiian Gazette of the 13th February has very full statistics of the trade for 1866, from which we compile as follows: The total value of goods imported during the year 1866, was $1,870,658 04. The imports of the principal varieties of manufactured goods were of cotton, $237,101 45; of woolens, $131,866 04; of fancy goods, millinery, etc., $59,064 45; of boots, hats and crockery, $167,690 21. The importations of flour amounted to $17,165 23; of groceries and provisions, $119,616 5., cfiron and steel, $37,078 07; of lumber $102,365 53. The estimated value of exports was $1,934 576 70 Of sugar, 17,723,161 pounds were exported; of coffee, 93,852 pounds; of rice, 433,367 pounds; of cotton, 22,289 pounds; of gum, 212,926 pounds, of tallow, 159,331 pounds; of molasses, 851,795 gallons The value of goods imported from the Pacific States was $753,022 35; from the Atlantic States, $168,924 50; from Bremen, $211,513 17, from Great Britain, $124,203 77 The imports for 1866 exceeded those of 1865 by $45,-355 55. The total number of passengers who arrived at the Islands during the year was 905; number who departed, 691.

RELIEF FOR THE POOR.—A number of ladies interested in providing relief for poor families in this city held a meeting a day or two since in the vestry of the Baptist Church to take the subject under consideration with a view of inaugurating measures to help at once some who are known to be in need. Another meeting is to be held at the same place to-day at 1 o'clock, and we are requested to state that all ladies who take an interest in the matter are desired to be present. Immediate relief is required in some families, and it is hoped that this effort on the part of the ladies of the city may result in furnishing some who are in distress with the assistance they need

LOST.—Mrs. Captain Baughman has lost a waist buckle and belt which she prizes highly and would be glad to have returned by the finder. The belt is of silk; the buckle is of gold—what is called an "Union buckle", has been repaired on the reverse side. The finder will confer a favor by leaving the articles at this office.

MULES FOR SALE.—A pair of mules for draft or carriage uses, are for sale at the Fashion stable, corner of First and Morrison streets. They are dark brown, matched, six years old, fifteen and a half hands high, kind and gentle and without fault. Terms made known upon application at the stable.

WILLAMETTE.—Arrived per steamer Alert, Friday, March 22d, 1,021 boxes apples, 3 bales woolen goods, 20 sks potatoes, 1 bale furs, 3,019 qr sks flour, 6 bf hides lard.

SWAN ISLAND BAR.—During the present low stage of water, almost every large vessel attempting to pass Swan Island gets fast on the bar. This is prejudicial to the interests of this city, but it does not make any difference in the very liberal terms upon which Barman Bros. sell their goods.

A WORD ABOUT COLORS.—There are two colors that are very popular in our country, viz: The National colors and the Family Dye Colors. For the former we are indebted to the patriotic spirit of the American people, and for the latter to Howe & Stevens, one of the most enterprising firms in the country. The colors of each neither fade nor run. Sold by Smith & Davis.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of rest, by a child suffering and crying with the pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the little sufferer immediately. It cures wind colic, regulates the bowels, and is perfectly safe in all cases. Thirty-five cents a bottle. Hostetter, Smith & Dean, Agents for the Pacific coast.

A neglected cough, cold, or sore throat, which might be checked by a simple remedy, like "Brown's Bronchial Troches," if allowed to progress may terminate seriously. For bronchitas, asthma, catarrh, and consumptive coughs, "The Troches" are used with advantage, giving oftentimes immediate relief. Singers and public speakers will find them also excellent to clear the voice and render articulation wonderfully easy.

A Tragic Story.

BY WILLIAM MAKEPEACE THACKERAY.

There lived a sage in days of yore,
And he a handsome pigtail wore;
But wondered much and sorrowed more,
Because it hung behind him.

He mused upon this curious case,
And swore he'd change the pigtail's place,
And have it hanging at his face
Not dangling there behind him.

Says he, "The mystery I've found;
I'll turn me round" He turned him round,
But still it hung behind him

Then round and round, and out and in,
All day this puzzled sage did spin;
In vain—it mattered not a pin,
The pigtail hung behind him

And up and down, and in and out,
He turned; but still the pigtail stout
Hung steadily behind him

And though his efforts never slack,
And though he twist and twirl and tack,
Alas! still faithful to his back,
The pigtail hangs behind him.

Curiosities of London.

In a notice of the new "London Directory," the London Times gives the following curious gleanings from that volume:

THE LIQUOR TRAFFIC.

If anybody is curious to know the relative importance of each trade in London, judged by the number of those who follow it, he can get this information without much difficulty from the trades' directory. The publicans appear to be far and away the most numerous. This volume contains the names of about 7,400, not including 300 hotels, taverns or coffee houses of a superior class, which are ranged by themselves, and 100 private hotels not licensed. Of beer retailers there are not less than 1,700; of wine merchants an equal number. Even this estimate by no means exhausts the list of those whose business it is to supply London with stimulants more or less gentle. Some 150 brewers are on the list; and then the brewers' agents, the distillers and spirit merchants, the dealers in liquors, older and perry, have at it to be reckoned. It is probably below the mark to say that ten thousand persons in this "Directory," are shown to be engaged, either wholly or partially, in what teetotalers call the "liquor traffic." Of course this does not include a whole army of brewers' men, draymen, waiters, barmen and barmaids, tapsters, cellarmen, pot-boys, and hangers-on of all sorts, whose interests are also bound up in this traffic. We don't venture to estimate their numbers, but the Alliance may do so and tremble.

VARIOUS TRADES.

After the publicans, the bootmakers take rank. Of these there are over 3,000—all, we presume, keeping something like a shop—and 200 wholesale makers. The grocers and tea dealers are less numerous by a hundred or so. Next come the tailors—2,600; the bakers, 1,650; the butchers, 1,750; the tobacconists, 1,500; and the milliners, 1,400, as numerous a body as the green grocers. The lodging-house keepers own to a strength of 1,350, but must really be a much more imposing body. With these the dairymen and the builders take the same rank. The linen drapers only muster some 1,100; but then the haberdashers, 400, the hosiers, 500, and the out-fitters, 250 strong, march in separate companies. Of private schools there are nearly 1,200.

THE SMITHS, BROWNS, ETC.

In the commercial directory, where the names are entered in alphabetical order, over 1,500 Smiths are registered, and the curious may like to know that 130 answer to the Christian name of John. Be it remembered that these are all householders and heads of families. If we add the women and children, the lodgers and workingmen of the same clan all over London, whose names do not appear in directories, we shall have a population of Smiths equal to that of many considerable towns which return their two members of Parliament. The Joneses are only half the number of Smiths. Next to them come the Browns, who fall short 500; the Johnsons and the Williamses muster some 360 each; while the hardly less familiar name of Robinson is only borne by about 250 persons.

CURIOSITIES OF THE FRENCH EXHIBITION.—Morocco will be represented by a grand imperial tent of silk and gold, surrounded by several smaller tents, fountains, plantations and agricultural implements. Japan exhibits a house in lacquer work; the pavilions are actually en route for France. The kings of Siam have sent over native workmen, who are building stabling for horses and elephants, one of the latter of which at least, it is to be hoped, will be white. M. Chapon is superintending the consignation of the Chinese pavilion, the plan of which is copied from one actually existing in Pekin, in the pleasure garden of the emperor of all the celestials. Four Chinese and their respective wives are to inhabit it. The roof will be covered by sworn grass and flowerbeds, and here Chinese ladies will cook bird's-nest soup, make tea, etc., in order to convey to us an idea of culinary art in the celestial empire. The servants of these fair celestials will be lodged in a kiosk behind the gang pavilion, the lower story of which is to be devoted to Chinese theatrical art, a troup of native actors being engaged for the exhibition season, who are probably at this very moment studying the last "idollied success" as "His Celestial Majesty's" at Pekin, wherewith to astonish the frequenters of the Francais or the Odeon.

The Boullah Museum and the magnificent temple to Arbor will represent ancient Egypt. An asket, to be inhabited by fifty Egyptian men and women, will convey an idea of modern life on the Nile, as every sort of trade will be carried on within the walls of this vast edifice. A salamlik is to be built for the viceroy during his visit to the exhibition. One thousand square metres have been handed over to the Russian commission, which is to be lodged in a splendid wooden edifice, such as the rich boyards of the south inhabit during the summers. The chimney-pieces are in terra cotta, and bear the national device of a reversed "Maronite." Next to this is erecting an izbah, or farmer's house, built in red deal, the outside walls of rough trunks of trees stripped of their bark, the ground floor to be divided into stables, the staircase running outside of the house A collection of farm vehicles, in the decoration and carving of which the Russian Moujik sets all his pride, are to be likewise exhibited. A smaller dwelling of white deal will form a sort of porter's lodge. Not a single nail or screw is being used in any of these constructions. The stables are to contain twenty-four thorough-bred Russian horses and ten farm horses. They will stand longitudinally in their separate stalls, so that their peculiar shapes may be seen the better. Ten Moujiks will inhabit the smaller building. The external walls of this whole group will be richly decorated by wood sculpture, for which Russia is so celebrated. A yourta for a family of nomad Tartars, of a bee-hive form, without any chimney, and a mat manufactury will complete this miniature Russian village. Seven Russians, assisted by several French workmen, are busily engaged in carrying on the works under the superintendance of a Russian contractor.—Paris Letter.

AN IRISH NOTION OF HONOR.—A story is told of an Irish prince, who, traveling in former days with a trusty and valued attendant, arrived at an inn where but one bed could be procured for their accommodation. They were way-worn and tired, more especially the servant, and the master revolted at the idea of leaving his humble friend without a place of repose. Still, his dignity could not be compromised by sleeping with a mere menial. The difficulty was solved by putting the follower into the bed, and making another for his liege lord on the roof, which happened to be a flat one.

During the night the servant begged to know if the prince felt comfortable, when the latter replied, "Well, Teague, except for the honor of it, I think I would just as soon be below."

RESULTS OF TRANSFERRING A RAILWAY PASS.—A commercial traveler named Debout was arrested recently while traveling from Nice to Paris by railway with a first-class free pass, not transferable, which had been granted to a newspaper editor named Maurel. Debout had purchased the ticket from a man named Frios, to whom Maurel had sold it. A prosecution having been instituted by the Lyons Railroad Company, the case was brought before the Tribunal of Correctional Police in Paris. Maurel and Debout not appearing, were tried by default, and were each condemned to thirteen months imprisonment; extenuating circumstances having been admitted with respect to Frios, he was sentenced to only two months of the same punishment.

AN APPEAL.—We concur with the editor of the Cynthiana (Kentucky) News, who, in making an appeal to his subscribers, who are in arrears, to pay up, says: "We hope they will settle up without delay. Not that we need the money—oh no! Our ink is given us; we steal our paper, and we win our printer's wages at seven up. So it costs us nothing to carry on business. Nevertheless, as a matter of accommodation, and to ease our consciences, we will take what they owe us if they will send it immediately.

Mr. Shillaber has made an engagement with the proprietors of the American Union, published in Boston. We shall expect to see Mrs. Partington appearing again, as large as life, and Ike as mischievous as ever.

FLOGGING AN AUTHOR.—A Swiss citizen, a native of the Canton of Uri, was some months ago flogged for having published a pamphlet against the Catholic religion. The Federal Assembly, to which he appealed, has decided by a large majority that he was entitled to no redress, because flogging was an institution adopted in the code of the State of Uri and that the Federal Assembly cannot interfere with the jurisdiction of that sovereign canton. The Paris Pays, commenting on the barbarous and altogether antiquated legislation of the Canton of Uri, urges in mitigation the absurd argument that the "cat o' nine tails" is yet used in the English army The logic of the Pays is that those who object on humane grounds to a particular mode of punishment for undoubted crime, are estopped from protesting against the like punishment for no crime at all.

APPECTING.—At a recent valedictory address to the young ladies of a female institute in New York, the lady principal thus addressed her pupils: "Affectionate pupils: With many of you this is our final meeting in the relative position of teacher and pupil, and we must part to meet no more. That this reflection filtrates from my mind to my heart I need not assure you, but Hope, in a voice sweet as 'the wild strains of the Calvin harp,' whispers in dulcet accents, 'we may meet again' In youth the impressions of sorrow are fleeting and evanescent as 'the vapory sail' that momentarily o'ershadows the luciferous orb of even, vanishes and leaves her disc untarnished in its lustre so may it be with you. May the gloom of this moment, like the elemental prototype, be but the precursor of reappearing radiance undimmed by the transitory shadow."

Mr. Bothell, an Irish barrister, when the question of the Union was in debate, like other junior barristers, published a pamphlet on the subject Mr Lysaght met this pamphleteer in the hall of the Four Courts, and in a friendly way, said:

"Bothell, I wonder you never told me you had published a pamphlet on the Union. The one I saw contained some of the best things I have seen in any pamphlet on the subject."

"I am very proud you think so," said the delighted author: "and pray, what are the things that please you so much?"

"Why," replied Lysaght, "as I passed by a pastry cook's shop, I saw a girl come out with three mince pies wrapped up in one of your works."

A lady, who, though in the autumn of life, had not lost all dreams of its spring, said to Douglas Jerrold:

"I cannot imagine what makes my hair turn so grey. I sometimes fancy it is the essence of rosemary, with which my maid is in the habit of brushing it. What do you think?

"I should be afraid, madam," replied the distinguished dramatist, dryly, "that it is the essence of Thyme!"

A gentleman called on a rich miser, and found him at the table endeavoring to catch a fly. Presently he succeeded in entrapping one, which he immediately put in the sugar bowl and shut down the cover. The gentleman asked for an explanation of this singular sport.

"I'll tell you," replied the miser, a triumphant grin overspreading his countenance as he spoke, "I want to see if my servants steal the sugar."

A good story is told of a Glasgow merchant who, on his death-bed, sent for a Free Church clergyman. Having some fears regarding his future prospects, he asked the reverend gentleman, "Do you think, if I were to leave £10,000 to the Free Kirk, my soul would be saved?" "Well," answered the cautious minister, "I couldn't just promise you that, but I think it's an experiment well worth trying."

WEEKLY REVIEW.

PORTLAND, FRIDAY, 2 P. M., March 22, 1867.

Private telegrams quote gold in New York at 133¼, yesterday.

Legal tenders are in moderate demand at 73¼ buying, and 74¾ selling.

There is no improvement to note in trade. Jobbing outside of demands for shipment to San Francisco, is confined to small orders, mostly for merchants in the Willamette valley. No considerable demand has yet reached us from the country east of the mountains.

The late news from San Francisco has stiffened the demand for flour and wheat, and prices may be said to be firm. Most other staples are in rather full supply and dull Bacon and lard are offered freely at quotations. Oats have declined 2½c. The supply of butter is still large and prices are weak. Oregon dried apples, under late full receipts, are inclined to droop. San Francisco and Pacific Refinery syrup has advanced 2½c Bay Refinery, do.

Our dispatches of yesterday from San Francisco represent the flour market as wearing a more encouraging aspect. The demand for Pacific brands in New York and foreign markets is stronger at full figures The dispatches say that night's telegrams quote the sales in New York of 3700 bbls of California flour at $14@15 The sales of Oregon flour for the week, aggregated 6,200 packages The two next steamers for Panama have already received full cargoes for New York Orders per telegram are frequently received for 500 or 1,000 bbl lots This is an encouraging feature of trade by this new route as it transfers all responsibility of shipments to parties on the Atlantic side The engagements of shipping for April are already taken. They include 300 bbls imperial, in quarks, for New York, 500 bbls for Hong Kong on Oregon brands for export at full figures There is a good demand and prices are firm at the current rates Good milling wheat $1 82½, good shipping $1 85. The market for good to choice is quoted at $1 80@1 90

The receipts of interior produce during the week ending Thursday, foot up 3,247 boxes apples, 577 sks bacon, 10,812 qr sks flour, 143 sks dried fruit, 10 boxes eggs, 903 sks feed, 38 cases lard, 88 bags wheat, 20 sks potatoes, 80 sks oats, 5 hf bbls butter, 36 hides and 243 miscellaneous packages

by eradicating the disease entirely from the blood The FOUNTAIN OF LIFE is composed entirely of vegetable extracts, it contains no Mercury or other mineral substance

The Proprietor and Discoverer of this Sovereign Remedy CHALLENGES THE WORLD to furnish anything, from the days of Æsculapius down to the present time, in the arcana of Medical science, which can vie with or excel the intrinsic properties of this Great Blood Purifier. Its value has been tested with the happiest effect in the most obstinate cases of scrofula, that baffled the skill of the most eminent physicians in the world No matter what form the dreadful disease of SCROFULA and KING'S EVIL may have assumed, it can in no way be more safely and certainly arrested in its progress than by HENLEY'S GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER Thousands have been swept into their graves, who had they made a timely use of the FOUNTAIN OF LIFE, might now be enjoying the blessings of life and health It requires an article of real merit and intrinsic value to sustain itself. During the storm ordeal of public experiment the FOUNTAIN OF LIFE has stood the test trial, and not been found wanting
